

The diagram consists of three vertical columns of rectangular blocks. Each column starts with a light blue header block at the top. The blocks are arranged in a staggered pattern, with the middle column being the tallest and the side columns being shorter. The blocks are outlined in black.